INTRODUCTION

As the legal industry evolves, managing reputation in the digital age extends far beyond maintaining an active social media presence or building an SEO-friendly website. Today, a firm's reputation depends increasingly on how it is represented on Answer Engines such as ChatGPT, which users now rely on to seek information, verify credibility, and make decisions about brands and professionals. In this new landscape, what these large language models (LLMs) choose to present has become a defining element of digital reputation.

The AI Reputation Report for Law Firms & Lawyers (India 2025) marks the first step toward understanding this paradigm shift — exploring how narratives about Indian law firms are shaped and surfaced through AI-driven platforms. The report is both influenced by AI and centered on it, aiming to capture the questions users ask and how AI platforms respond. Through this study, we present an overview of the current scenario, highlighting the most frequent questions posed to AI engines about law firms and lawyers, and analyzing the responses generated. The purpose is to help legal professionals recognize why building a strong, optimized presence on answer engines has become essential.

All insights and observations in this report are derived from responses generated by ChatGPT, currently the most preferred and widely used answer engine globally. The selected questions represent common user intents and frequent queries related to law firms and lawyers in India. This report has been intentionally kept concise to provide a clear and practical snapshot of how reputation in the legal sector is being shaped in the era of AI-driven discovery.

Objective of the report

The primary objectives of this report are to:

- Analyze user behaviour on ChatGPT by identifying the most frequently asked queries related to law firms and lawyers in India.
- Examine how law firms and individual lawyers are represented in ChatGPT's responses to assess their current digital reputation and visibility across AI-driven platforms.
- Understand the information sources leveraged by answer engines to generate these responses and evaluate how such sourcing impacts the accuracy and perception of legal professionals online.

METHODOLOGY

This study examines how AI-powered search and recommendation systems identify and recommend law firms across India, revealing the emerging landscape of Answer Engine Optimization (AEO) within the Indian legal market.

APPROACH

- Over 18 high-intent client queries were tested using ChatGPT.
- Responses were analyzed to map law firm visibility and consistency across categories such as geography, practice areas, needs, and reputation.
- AEO visibility factors included content clarity, schema usage, and digital credibility.
- Mentions were cross-checked with external visibility indicators, including media mentions, firm websites, and ranking portals (Chambers, Legal500, RSG).

SCOPE

This study does not measure service quality or legal expertise. Instead, it evaluates AI discoverability and AEO-readiness to assess how optimized law firms are to appear in AI-powered legal searches.

KEY FINDINGS & LEARNINGS

KEY FINDINGS

- Top-Tier Firms Dominate - Firms like AZB & Partners, Khaitan & Co., Shardul Amarchand Mangaldas & Co., and Cyril Amarchand Mangaldas & Co. consistently rank highly across corporate, arbitration, and M&A queries. Their regular content updates, citations, and structured press releases strengthen AI recognition and trust.
- Boutique Firms Benefit from Niche Targeting - Boutique firms with specialised practice areas rank well due to targeted, rich content. Niche firms often outperform larger firms for queries with specific requirements.
- Offline Reputation Alone is Insufficient - Many capable law firms are absent in AI-generated answers despite strong offline reputations, primarily due to low schema integration and poor content discoverability.
- Aggregator Platforms Lead for Consumer & SME Queries - For queries related to everyday consumer, retail, and SME matters (e.g., consumer forum lawyers, LLP registration), AI tools tend to prefer aggregator platforms, highlighting that tech-driven visibility can outweigh traditional reputation.
- Digital PR is a must - Your reputation on third party websites drive recognition in AI chatbots. Global directories like Chambers, Legal 500 etc. and recognized media publications have a huge impact on AI while shortlisting responses.

LEARNINGS

- Consistency Drives Brand Recall – ChatGPT rewards regularly updated, plain-language content explaining legal processes over generic practice listings.
- Visibility Depends on Multiple Factors – AI recognition relies on a combination of website content, digital PR mentions, and citation-linked profiles on trusted directories.
- Quality Over Quantity – Clear and structured content is more valuable than volume or popularity. Smaller firms with specific, educational content often outperform larger firms in long-tail or niche queries.

TIPS FOR LAW FIRMS

Tips for law firms to get ranked in relevant queries

FIRMS NOT CITED BY AI

- Conduct a thorough audit of existing website content and overall communication channels, then refine the content structure based on the findings.
- Ensure AI crawlers can access the website content by checking backend settings.
- Focus on key practice areas to build early visibility; many boutique firms are listed for queries targeting specific needs.
- Diversify content across platforms. AI prefers firms cited on multiple credible sources for the same keyword.
- Collaborate and contribute insights on high-authority websites to enhance discoverability.

FIRMS ALREADY CITED BY AI

- Strengthen dominance by refining schema tags on the website to build authority for selected keywords.
- Create FAQs based on common queries to provide AI chatbots with clear and concise responses.
- Align messaging across all content published by the firm. Develop brand guidelines and scripts to help partners and associates maintain consistent communication.

CONCLUSION AND THE FUTURE

The AI era has fundamentally transformed how legal clients discover law firms. Traditional search has evolved into AI-driven recommendation systems, where credibility is determined by the clarity, structure, and accessibility of digital information.

Indian law firms that embrace AEO strategies, building content for algorithms that mimic human reasoning will dominate client visibility.

This shift is not just about being found, but about being understood. In a market where over 80% of clients begin their legal search online, visibility in AI-generated responses will soon become a key determinant of market leadership.

Given current trends, AI-driven search is poised to replace static SEO rankings with dynamic, conversational discovery. The next phase of law firm visibility will therefore be shaped by AEO: the ability to provide structured, credible, and intent-aligned information to AI systems.

Predicted Trends

- AI may soon be considered as the New Referral System. Instead of relying on traditional word-of-mouth, users will turn to AI models to recommend law firms and lawyers based on structured credibility.
- Firms already using AI for drafting and documentation will likely adopt machine-readable “firm cards” integrating bios, representative work, and client segments.

Impact of AEO

- Boutique firms can compete with BigLaw through intelligently structured content.
- Firms will be compelled to publish substantive thought leadership, not merely marketing-heavy copy.
- AI will filter out ambiguity, connecting clients directly to expertise that meets their needs.

It is clear that AI will be an integral part of the legal landscape. Firms that capitalize on this technology early will enjoy a sustained competitive advantage.
